after collapsing during route march

- 1,800 Home Guards allegedly not paid salary for 3 months
- They have also not been given ESI or PF benefits

Mysuru, Sept. 5 (MTY&BCT)- A Home Guard, who fainted during the route march that was held on Aug. 29 to instil confidence among voters for the election to the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) on Aug. 31, died at a private hospital this morning.

Ananthu

The Guard's family that has been waiting for his salary since the last three months is shell shocked as they have lost the sole bread-winner. The family, with two girl children one of them unemployed, has no means to sustain now and stares at a bleak future.

M. Ananthu (49), a resident of Gayathripuram in city and serving as Home Guard at KR Traffic Division, participated in the 6-km route march on Aug. 29, two days before MCC polls.

The route march criss-crossed the city and at one point, Ananthu, unable to bear the exhaustion and fatigue, collapsed en-route.

He was rushed to a private hospital first where he slipped into coma. Later, he was shifted to a government hospital where the doctors told the family that his condition was critical. So the family shifted him to a private hospital hoping that he could be revived. But Ananthu died this morning.

The family resides in a rented house. The family members and his colleagues said that Ananthu was not paid his salary since the last three months.

Teaching: Job or calling?

If one ponders about the difference between the terms job and calling, as applied to the teachers, the outcome may throw some light on the activity of teachers, many among whom may see it as a means to make a living, obviously for earning wages, while a select section among them see it as a profession with unlimited scope to render service. Old timers of Mysuru who chose the calling of a teacher, given their unattractive pay package, could be heard saying "Teaching is a noble profession but a mean trade." Having raised the issue of pursuing the teaching profession either as a job or a calling, tracing it to the times of the land's epics dating back to the undated pre-historic era can be both fascinating and amazing. Dronacharya's name stands out as a teacher par excellence on two counts. His student Arjuna is featured as an ace in archery with none to outperform him. The other ace, Ekalavya, learning the nuances of archery with Dronacharya's symbolic idol guiding him speaks volumes about this distinguished teacher, who rejected the self-learning warrior to be his student.

The annual occasion of Teachers' Day on September 5, given its observation sans glitz and glamour, is bound to please the soul of Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, who taught Philosophy at Maharaja's College, Mysuru, for a short period of three years exactly 100 years ago for more reason than birthday event. For Mysureans, the name of Venkatakrishnaiah, lovingly addressed as Thathaiah, is closer to their heart. If one were to record names of teachers in schools and colleges who live in the hearts of their students in Mysuru, the effort can be immensely rewarding.

One is obliged not to stereotype the teachers in order to avoid tarnishing the image of their profession. However, while some teachers are the source of only information flowing through the black board as it were, some teachers impart knowledge that serves to understand all that awakens their students and some teachers are the fountain of wisdom needed to sail through life and in turn achieve immortality by virtue of their teachings. Many examples of the third type of teacher-student connect are featured in the land's history, out of which Swami Vivekananda (1863-1902) and his mentor Ramakrishna Paramahamsa stand out. Remembering one's teachers for moulding one's sterling character with a sense of gratitude is the hallmark of culture, the factor that drives a teacher to bestow love and care to the student.

Celebration of Teachers' Day is an occasion for the student fraternity to resolve on accepting the responsibility of continuing the legacy of teaching for the benefit of gen next. In sum, taking over the duty of teaching is the litmus test of learning from one's teacher. That is the best tribute that a student can pay to the teacher.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

SARKARI SHALE AND TEACHERS' DAY: People want to take maximum benefit from the Government under various schemes. But when it comes to admitting their children to Government School, they dither. All those who take benefits from Government and all Government employees must admit their children to Government Schools, feels Head Master Kemparaju. The Government must work out a law to this effect, he adds.

Students Rani and Manjesh feel that Teachers' Day must be celebrated in a unique way where teachers become students for a day and in turn, students become teachers for a day. There is no use in attending the event at Kalamandira and listen to speeches. If unique programmes are conducted at the School, they will help build rapport between students-teachers and this is the biggest gift we can give Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, they said. — In Star of Mysore.

Don't buy fish going by their eyes

Kuwait: A fish shop in Kuwait was recently shut down by the authorities after they found that the fishmonger was sticking plastic googly eyes on the fish to make them look fresher.

The measure to shut down the unnamed shop was taken after photos of a plastic eye that had slipped off revealing the yellow eye of the fish went viral on Twitter last week. While some social media users were outraged by the deceitful tactic of the fishmonger, asking for a hefty fine for cheating, others were simply amused and even impressed by the originality displayed by the fish seller.

One and only white jewel strawberries

Tokyo: White Jewel strawberries created four years ago, by Yasuhito Teshima at his farm in Japan's Saga Prefecture remains the only one in the world that produces this unique fruit which is worth their weight in gold. Teshima-san claims he spent years cross-breeding different types of strawberries and perfecting his growing technique in order to come up with a large strawberry that was white both on the inside and the outside.

Teshima claims that his fruits are considerably larger and whiter than any of the other breeds. They are sold individually for $10, or in very small packs for $40.

Yasuhito Teshima says that even after years of trial and error, his technique is far from perfect. Only 10 percent of his strawberries turn out white, and only a few of these are perfectly pale, with the rest featuring red patches, or sporting a milky ping hue.

'Teachers must act as Social Engineers'

Sir,

The 130th birth anniversary of Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, the great teacher par excellence, is celebrated today, 5th September 2018 throughout the length and breadth of our country.

Gone are those days when teachers like Chanakya and Dronacharya possessed qualities such as diplomacy and political foresight which were considered essential qualities of teachers of that period.

In most schools today we find lack of mutual understanding between teacher and the pupil. Most teachers are busy in dictating notes to the students.

During Gurukula system the relation between the teacher and the taught was one of "father-son". It appears that as though the modern education is completely de-humanised and the role of a teacher is no better than a computer or a textbook.

Unless proper care is given to pupil-teacher relation, the problems of indiscipline cannot be solved. The basic duty of a teacher is to build individuality of his students and to promote intellectual and moral development.

The success of a school largely depends on its teachers. As is the teacher so will be the students. A good teacher is one who maintains harmonious relationship with his students and extends it beyond the realms of conventional classrooms. The teacher should mould his students' moral, aesthetic and intellectual personality.

A modern teacher should give utmost weightage to the needs of the children. Freedom should be given to the students to come out with their latent talents. A modern teacher must act as social engineer and help students to learn. This is possible only when teachers take up the role as learning facilitators and adopt constructivist approach in teaching various concepts.

According to Burton, "Teaching is the stimulation, guidance, direction and encouragement of learning." Teaching will become more effective if this definition is followed carefully. Only that teacher who stimulates or causes motivation to learners and guides them to develop their capabilities, skills, attitudes and knowledge will be an effective teacher. His behaviour should set an example as social engineer so that the learners may emulate him. Only that teacher who makes an image on the minds of learners and impresses them with his teaching is an effective teacher.

Expect 18 percent hike in KSRTC bus fares

Bengaluru, Sept.5 (KMS& BCT)- Following a steep hike in diesel prices in the last few days, the State Government has proposed to hike bus fares of State Road Transport Corporations by 18%. The Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) and other regional transport Corporations have incurred a loss of Rs.186 crore during the last three months owing to hike in fuel prices, said Minister for Transport D.C. Thammanna.

Transport Minister D.C. Thammanna told reporters in Bengaluru yesterday that a hike in bus fares has become "inevitable", owing to the periodic rise in fuel prices. The Department will announce a decision to this effect in a week's time, after obtaining the green signal from Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy. Details of hike in different routes will have to be worked out and will be announced soon, he said.

The four public transport Corporations had proposed a hike of 18% to 20%, in the first week of July. The Government, which was just a month old in office, however, kept the proposal in abeyance. Bus fares were last hiked (7.97%) in May 2014 when diesel prices had hit Rs.59.59 per litre. The fares were, however, brought down by 2% in January 2015 when diesel prices came down considerably.

Bus passes

The Minister said that a decision on providing free buses for school and college students will be taken soon after consultation with Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy. Already a majority of students have obtained bus passes by paying a fee. He hinted that free bus passes might be issued only from the next academic year.

'Badavara Bandhu' scheme to counter 'Meter Baddi'

Bengaluru, Sept.5 (KMS& BCT)- Minister for Cooperation Bandeppa Kashampur said that in order to protect street vendors from harassment of private money lenders and to reduce the menace of 'Meter Baddi,' the Government has planned to introduce 'Badavara Bandhu' (saviour of the poor) scheme to provide financial assistance to them.

The scheme provides interest-free daily loan scheme for footpath vendors, pushcart vendors and small businessmen.

After visiting the Yeshwantpur vegetable market, the Minister said that the private money lenders have been misusing the helplessness of street vendors. "Vendors have to pay a majority portion of their earnings for daily interest, prompting the Government to introduce the scheme to put an end to this menace," he said.

The innovative scheme, brainchild of Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy, promises to be a big ticket initiative which could pay huge political dividends. The scheme offers interest-free loans up to Rs.10,000 as seed capital for street hawkers, pushcart vendors and small businessmen to prevent them from being fleeced by moneylenders.

Soon after the Minister spoke, Kumaraswamy reached out to the vendors via teleconference and sought their suggestions to free them from the clutches of greedy moneylenders who charge a hefty 10% interest a day on the loans they offer.

"The vendors need not repay the loan the same evening. The scheme allows them to repay it in small daily instalments of even Rs.100 unlike the ordeal they are facing from moneylenders who recover the loan with 10% interest the same evening," Minister Kashampur explained.

The scheme will be launched formally in a fortnight in Bengaluru and other major cities of the State. About 50,000 street vendors will be enrolled in the first phase and the scheme will cover about two lakh vendors across the State.

Cannot claim insurance for road accident caused by one's own fault: SC

New Delhi, Sept.5- One cannot claim insurance for road accident if it was caused by one's own fault, the Supreme Court has held.

The top Court set aside a judgement by the Tripura High Court directing the National Insurance Company to pay Rs.10.57 lakh to the family members of Dilip Bhowmik, who died on May 20, 2012, after meeting with an accident.

The insurance company challenged the order before the top Court, contending that the deceased himself was the owner-cum-driver of the offending vehicle. He was not a third party within the meaning of the Motor Vehicles Act. "The accident had occurred due to the negligence of the deceased. Therefore, the appellant, being the insurer of the vehicle, was not liable to pay compensation," the company said.

The High Court had accepted the plea by the insurance company but still directed it to pay the money, saying it should not be treated as a precedent.

After going through the facts of the case, the Supreme Court noted that the deceased was the victim of his own action of rash and negligent driving. Therefore, his family members could not have maintained the claim petition filed under Section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act.

The Court said the High Court was not justified in directing the insurer to pay the compensation. It, however, noted that under the terms of insurance contract, the family members were entitled to Rs.2 lakh, as indemnification was extended to personal accident of the deceased.

"A claimant, in our view, cannot maintain a claim if he/she has caused the accident on account of his/her own rash and negligent driving, and make the insurance company pay for the same," a Bench of Justices N.V. Ramana and S. Abdul Nazeer said.

Preparations at Dasara Exhibition Grounds begin

Plans to open expo along with the inauguration of Dasara festivities

Mysuru, Sept.5 (MK&NNN)- There was a time when Dasara Exhibition would be actually ready when the Dasara celebrations began. Over the years, this practice stopped and now it is always a few days after the Dasara commences that the exhibition opens, in spite of the Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA) in place.

Every year when the visitors come from different parts of the country to witness the Dasara spectacle, they were returning disappointed seeing the empty stalls at the Exhibition Grounds opposite the east side of the Mysore Palace.

However, hopefully it will be a thing of the past as steps are being taken to see that the exhibition opens along with the commencement of Dasara.

The Chief Secretary of the State Government has issued a circular one month back directing all the Government Departments, Boards and Corporations and Zilla Panchayats to compulsorily participate in this year's exhibition. Similarly, letters have gone from the KEA to all the Government Departments to be fully ready for the opening.

This year steps have been taken to see that all the stalls are ready during the inauguration of the exhibition, said KEA Chief Executive Officer N.M. Shashikumar.

"This year a master plan has been created to take the exhibition to international standards and attract the tourists. The tender amount which was Rs.6.66 crore has been raised to Rs.6.99 crore this year. A global tender has been called for and the whole process will be ready in another 20 days. Contractors will be entrusted with the responsibility of ticketing, parking and stalls," he said.

Last year there were 59 Government stalls, while this year already 21 Departments have been provided space. 140 stalls which were more than 30 years old have been demolished and in their place, 143 spacious stalls have been built at a cost of Rs.2 crore. Out of this, seven stalls will be handed over to Government Departments and the remaining 136 stalls the contractors will get, he said.

Every year lakhs of visitors visit the exhibition.

Toilets have been put up in five places and drinking water arrangements have been made. This year, a special illumination has also been planned, said Shivakumar.

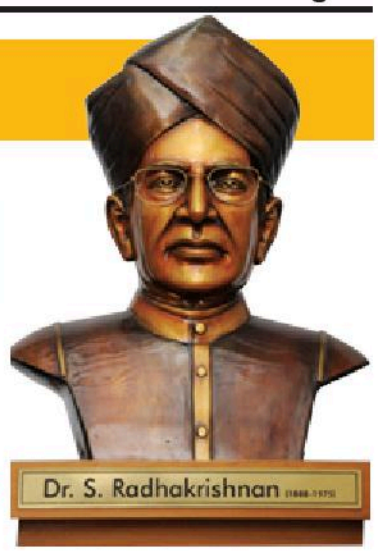
Teachers' Day Today

Dr. S. Radhakrishnan came to Mysuru 100 years ago



"The end product of education should be a free creative man, who can battle against historical circumstances and adversities of nature." —Dr. S. Radhakrishnan

By N. Niranjan Nikam

Today, September 5, is National Teachers' Day, celebrated in the memory of the first Vice-President and second President of India Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, one of the greatest teachers the world has produced.

When Dr. Radhakrishnan became the second President of India, some of his fans and students met him to request his permission to commemorate his birthday with a celebration. He replied saying, "Instead of celebrating my birthday separately, it would be my proud privilege if September 5 is celebrated as Teachers' Day" and from 1962 this celebration began.

What is the connection of Dr. Radhakrishnan to Mysuru? He came to Mysuru exactly one hundred years ago in 1918 to join the University of Mysore at the young age of 29 as Professor in the Philosophy Department. The first Vice-Chancellor of University of Mysore H.V. Nanjundayya had selected him and he came after having taught in the Department of Philosophy at the Madras Presidency College, since 1909. He taught in Maharaja's College from July 1918 to February 1921.

It is said that when he came to Mysuru, he first took up a house in Lakshmipuram and later moved to the huge Professors' Quarters near the Fire Brigade in Saraswathipuram. The University of Mysore, in a fitting tribute to the memory of the best teacher, has restored the bungalow to its old glory and converted it as 'Dr. S. Radhakrishnan Centre for Philosophy and Indian Culture.'

Memories of those halcyon days flood one's mind when one enters the graceful, old colonial bungalow, driving through the well-maintained driveway. There is a portico and then the verandah with two rooms on either side. Then one walks into a big drawing room which leads into two more bedrooms and then there is back verandah which leads to the staircase to the first floor and opens into a huge courtyard.

There are also two huge rooms on the first floor with a big drawing room opening into the balcony. Surprisingly, those days there were hardly any toilets inside the house and this bungalow was no exception with toilets placed outside near the courtyard.

The renovated building with munificent contributions from the then MLC and Chancellor of PES University Dr. M.R. Doreswamy paved the way for the University to keep the memory of the great teacher Dr. S. Radhakrishnan alive.

Former University of Mysore Librarian Dr. C.P. Ramasesh told Star of Mysore that the place is now being used by students, faculty members and research scholars, besides students from affiliated colleges. It is also open to the public. There are nearly 2,000 collections of books and magazines. The beautifully sculpted bust of Radhakrishnan is another major attraction.

The library houses books written by Dr. Radhakrishnan and also books on him by various authors. A special lecture series is held and the Teachers' Day today is going to mark the 25th one, he said.

"The line of nearly six Professors' Quarters were built between 1870 - 1880 and Radhakrishnan stayed in this bungalow between 1918 - 1921 before he moved to University of Calcutta after he was appointed as a Professor in Philosophy to occupy the King George V Chair of Mental and Moral Science in 1921," Ramasesh said.

Student reminisces

The Philosophy Department of Maharaja's College became an object of emulation to other Universities which were steadily losing ground in a subject like Philosophy. At a time when Philosophy Departments were being wound up one after the other in the other Universities on account of serious depletion in the number of students taking up the subject, Maharaja's College kept its banner flying by counting its Philosophy students in hundreds, reminisced Prof. M. Yamunacharya, a student of Dr. Radhakrishnan. The seeds of his greatness as a teacher was actually sown in Maharaja's College.

Eulogising his Philosophy teacher, Prof. Yamunacharya records his impression in the Maharaja's College Centenary Volume brought out in 1951 thus:

"Dr. S. Radhakrishnan was one of our most beloved Professors of Philosophy. We loved him and adored him. His delightful informality and bonhomie would put us instantly at ease. His lectures on Ethics and Modern Philosophy were daily feasts to us. Who could forget his gentle tilting at Kant for his 'drill-sergeant morality?' Who again could erase from memory his exposition of British Empiricism which 'lost itself in the desert sands of skepticism?' Who could not be convinced of his standpoint by his clear analysis and trenchant criticism of contemporary philosophers like Bradley and Bergson, Russell and Alexander? The intellectual stimulation that followed in the wake of his teaching left in us a perennial interest in Philosophy. This was a great teacher that left us better than he found us. With this Professor of Philosophy who wielded extraordinary influence over his students, it was a case of 'I came, I saw, I conquered'."

Rightfully, wherever he went, Dr. Radhakrishnan left his indelible impression on his students and again going back to Prof. Yamunacharya, who describes the great teacher's poignant journey when he left Mysore to Calcutta (now Kolkata) in this moving tribute.

"I remember the poignancy with which we bade farewell to him going away from us to occupy his position as George V Professor of Philosophy in the Calcutta University. On his way to the Railway Station he was seated in an open carriage and it was pulled by students, chariot-like, till it reached the Station. The platform of the Mysore Railway Station was filled with students who shouted 'Jai to Radhakrishnan' full-throated. When the train was about to move, Radhakrishnan stood at the door of the compartment with folded palms and bade us farewell with moistened eyes. Students broke into tears like children when he parted from them."

In a befitting recognition to the renowned teacher, the University of Mysore, during its centenary celebrations in 2016, instituted an award 'Bharat Ratna Dr. S. Radhakrishnan Centenary Award for Excellence in the field of Social Sciences' and the first recipient was Gopalkrishna Gandhi, the grandson of Mahatma Gandhi.

'A School for Children, NOT Children for School'

Mysuru, Sept.5 (NNN) - Here is a special teacher who is doing work quietly with the 'Out of System' children. He is M.R. Ananth Kumar, who quit his engineering career, settled in a village and started 'Kaliyuva Mane.'

He started this special school for underprivileged children with the motto 'School for Children, not Children for School' in 1999 at Kenchalagudu village on Manandavadi Road in Jayapura Hobli, Mysuru taluk.

Ananth Kumar started staying in the village from Aug. 1992, carrying out intense grass-roots level research through supplementary classes for rural poor children from 6 am to 8 am and 7 pm to 8 pm.

The response was good and as a logical consequence 'Kaliyuva Mane,' a full-fledged school was started in 2005. Here school drop-outs, child labourers, children from traumatic backgrounds, children from broken families and underprivileged children get a chance to live and are able to start new lives all over again.

Also, since there are very few limited schools for the children suffering from dyslexia, Kaliyuva Mane, an eco-conscious school has come as a significant support to learn despite the learning challenge, and to lead a better life.

Divya Deepa Charitable Trust, an NGO in Mysuru, is the one which runs this alternative school.

There are many under-graduate students from SJCE, NIE, MMC&RI, students of SDM-IMD, besides IT professionals from Bengaluru who are volunteers of the Trust.

Apart from all these volunteers, there is Milaap, the crowd-funding platform through which Ananth Kumar is trying to raise funds for this cause.

One of the unique features is that the school has a kid's bank inside the campus in which all children have personal savings account. For more information visit: https://milaap.org/fundraisers/forDIVYADEEPA.

Rotary Ivory City to honour Social Worker on Teachers' Day

Mysuru, Sept.5- To commemorate Teachers' Day, Rotary Ivory City Mysuru is honouring six distinguished teachers from ACME School, Sharadadevingar, Govt. High School, Marballi and Srikanteshwara Vidya Samsthe, Kyathamaranahalli.

On this occasion, social worker Sushma of Chiguru Ashram, Kooragalli, will be felicitated by the Club. The 25-year-old Sushma is looking after 15 mentally challenged destitute women in her Ashram. These women were thrown out by their families and were homeless.

Sushma, who is a MSW degree holder, took them and placed them under one roof. Now with the help of some of the Rotary Clubs in Mysuru she is in a position to feed these inmates.

She will be conferred "Samaja Seva Rathna" title by Rotary Ivory City for her selfless and dedicated work. Dr. M. Umapathi, Retired Professor of Political Science, University of Mysore, will be the chief guest at the function to be held today at 7 pm at Dr. M. S. Subbalakshmi Hall, Mahajana High School, Jayalakshmipuram.

National Bridge Championship

YOUNGEST PLAYER: Anshul Bhat flanked by Vinay Patil and Kunal Patil.

The tournament is being organised jointly by KSBA and MDBA. Nearly 250 to 280 players are participating in the championship with the Inter-State tournament beginning from this morning. In all, 26 teams are participating including juniors and ladies there will be 36 teams, said Jayapal speaking to Star of Mysore, here this morning.

After the elimination rounds today and tomorrow, the quarter finals will begin on Friday (Sept.7) followed by semi-finals and finals. The team and pair events will start from Friday. The other events include Junior/ Sub-Junior Team event, Ladies pair event and mixed pair events, he said.

Prominent players

The prominent players in the tournament include Sunit Choksi and Keyzard Anklesaria from Gujarat, Pritish Kushari, Swarnenu Banerjee and Hemant Jalan from West Bengal, Dipale Poddar and Anand Samant from Maharashtra.

Youngest player

Anshul Bhat from Raibidpura, a village in Madhya Pradesh who is just nine years old is the youngest player in the tournament. The other two Vinay Patil and Kunal Patil both 14 also from Raibidpura had all participated in Youth World Championship in 2017 in France and were placed 30 among 80 participating teams.

Gold in Commonwealth Games

Two of the key players Sunit Choksi and Keyzard Anklesaria who are playing here in the tournament had won Gold in the Commonwealth Games 2018 in Australia.

Ankelsaria speaking to SOM said, "This is one of the most respected sports in the US and Europe. Unfortunately, it is still viewed in our country as gambling since playing cards are used in this game. But it is a mind sport and it needs a lot of practice like any other sport be it cricket or boxing. The game is like Chess and it should be introduced in schools and colleges."

He said that it was a proud moment for India that it bagged a gold medal in the recently concluded Asian Games at Jakarta with Indian pair comprising Pranab Birdhan and Shibhanath Sirkar from West Bengal.

"Mysuru is a beautiful city and JWGC is a decent venue for a tournament of this size," added Anklesaria.

The Bridge players participating in the tournament are from West Bengal, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Delhi, Punjab, Jammu and Kashmir, Bihar, Assam, Rajasthan, Uttarakhand and Karnataka to name a few.

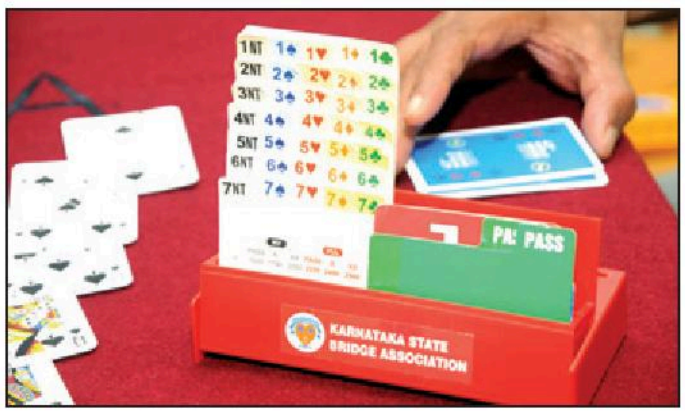
What is Bridge Game?



Bridge is a mind blowing game like Chess. It is played with a pack of playing cards (52 cards without Joker). Cards are distributed by dealing in four directions (East-West and North-South). Each series like Spade, Hearts, Diamond and Clubs will have 10 points each (A-4, K-3,Q-2 and J-1) with total of 40 points distributed in four hands.

A minimum of four players are required to play the game. East-West is one pair and North-South is another pair. After dealing the cards how the points are distributed will make the contract by bidding with internationally accepted conventions. Each deal will have specific bidding.

Bridge has different events like Team of Four Duplicate, Pair event and Board-A-Match with Junior, sub-junior, open pair and mixed pair and ladies events.

There is a proposal before the government to include bridge game in school and college curriculum.

Labourers shine at Bridge Table

It is not only Raibidupura village in Madhya Pradesh that has bridge players but Rajiv Kumar, Vipin Kumar and Bittu Kumar, all daily wagers from Johri Village in Baghpat District of Uttar Pradesh, took everyone by surprise at the KK Modi Goa Bridge Festival recently.

Dheeraj is a constable in a village in Uttar Pradesh; Bittu is a daily wage earner – a man who calls himself a labourer; Bipin white washes concrete surfaces; and Rajeev works in sugarcane fields. They have different professions and yet one passion- playing bridge.

The four speak little English. They appear docile and very respectful. And it was their first trip to Goa, a trip made on their maiden flight journey to participate in the KK Modi Goa Bridge Festival recently.

The KK Modi Bridge tournament had a prize purse of around Rs. 8 lakh.

Guv visits Palace

Karnataka Governor Vajubhai R. Vala visited Mysore Palace for the first time this morning along with his family members. Picture shows Palace Board Dy. Director T.S. Subramanya explaining about Goddess Chamundeshwari, the presiding deity of Mysuru, placed inside the replica of Golden Howdah, to the VVIP. The dignitary, who spent more than an hour going around the Palace, said it was the Best Palace in the country. He also expressed his wish to come back and see the Golden Throne which will be displayed for public viewing during Dasara festivities.

'Teachers have the power to change society'

Swami Yuktheshanandaji offering floral tribute to the portrait of Dr. S. Radhakrishnan during the Teachers' Day celebration at Rani Bahadur auditorium in city this morning as UoM Registrar Prof. R. Rajanna, in-Charge VC Prof. T.K. Umesh, Co-ordinator Prof. G. Hemanth Kumar and former RGUHS VC Dr. K.S. Ravindranath look on.

Mysuru, Sept.5 (RKB&KS)- "Teachers have the most responsible job as they have the power to change the society," opined Dr. K.S. Ravindranath, Professor, Sri Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research, Bengaluru and former VC of Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences (RGUHS), Bengaluru. He was delivering a special lecture on 'The role and importance of teachers in society,' organised by Dr. S. Radhakrishnan Centre for Philosophy and Indian Culture, University of Mysore (UoM), at Rani Bahadur auditorium, Manasagangothri, as part of Teachers' Day celebration this morning.

Dr. Ravindranath further said that Dr. Radhakrishnan showed his respect to teachers by celebrating his birthday as Teachers' Day and added that when former President Dr. Abdul Kalam was asked what he would do after retiring as the President of the country, he simply said that he would go back to his teaching profession because of his love for teaching.

KSOU: Teachers' Day was also celebrated at KSOU premises. Speaking after inaugurating, former MLC Prof. K. Narahari said the country has to be rebuilt which is possible only by the teachers. KSOU VC Prof. D. Shivalingaiah was honoured for getting recognition to KSOU from UGC.

He was drawing a salary of Rs. 11,400 per month and the family somehow managed the expenses. "It was tough for Ananthu to run the family as he was not paid since the last three months," a family member told SOM.

Ananthu's colleagues said that there were 1,800 Home Guards serving in Mysuru District and 800 of them were working in Mysuru city. "None of the Guards have received their salary since three months. Moreover, if any accident happens like it happened to Ananthu, we don't have Provident Fund and ESI facilities," a Home Guard said on condition of anonymity.

Ananthu's last rites were performed in city this afternoon.

Tonga horses get a health check-up

Vets from Australia, Finland and South Africa offer free service

Mysuru, Sept.5- Horse-drawn tongas were one of the few modes of transport at one time in the heritage city ferrying people from one place to another. It also used to act as goods vehicles as heavy materials would be loaded with the poor horse trying its best to negotiate the steep climbs even as the tongawallah used to coax it with his whip.

The days are long gone with the advent of the mean machines. However, the famous fancy tongas continue to operate attracting the tourists around the Mysore Palace and other tourist spots.

But whoever thought of health care for horses? This is where People For Animals (PFA), in association with Worldwide Veterinary Service, Ooty and Jeevan Daya Jain Organisation came in to organise a free health camp for horses. And the camp was specifically aimed at inspecting the health of tonga horses.

The camp was organised in front of Kote Anjaneyaswamy temple in the city and it was found that a majority of horses have swollen legs as a result of excessive walking.

More than 30 horses were examined during the one-day camp on Monday and free medicines were also distributed. Veterinarians from Australia, Finland and South Africa offered free service.

MCDCC Bank Manager's salary is Rs.7,86,056 for two years but pays income tax of Rs.4 crore!

Mysuru, Sept.5 (KK&BCT)- More skeletons are tumbling out of closets in the alleged scam at Mysuru-Chamarajanagar District Central Co-operative Bank's (MCDCC) Hunsur Branch where the Manager, Ramappa Poojar, has been accused of swindling and diverting crores of rupees of public money into his private Bank accounts. It has come to light that though Poojar has withdrawn a salary of Rs.7,86,056 for his two years of work at the Bank, Poojar had claimed that he paid income tax up to Rs.4 crore. The information about the hefty income tax paid by Poojar was received through an anonymous phone call made to the main office of the Bank on Aug.29.

After the authorities received the call, DGM of Auditing Department S. Palaiah and Senior Assistant Y.C. Chowdegowda decided to check the accounts at MCDCC Hunsur Branch. They were surprised to learn that Poojar had paid up to Rs.4 crore. Investigating the source of such a huge amount, the authorities stumbled on evidences where Poojar had diverted the money that was to be given to farmers as loans to his personal accounts.

The authorities have reported to their higher-ups that prima-facie, it looks like Poojar had misappropriated public money. From 2018 March till August 29, Rs.26,99,60,179 had been deposited to Poojar's account in over 150 transactions and his personal Bank accounts at Hunsur and Bilikere, there has been transactions up to Rs.40,75,53,206.

This apart, on Mar.28, 2018, Bandipalya Branch Manager Annaiah Gowda had transferred Rs.1,57,39,941 from his current account number 007019-66411 to the savings account of Ramappa Poojar on a single day. When the authorities examined the records, it came to light that whenever Poojar had transacted from his personal accounts, it had been mentioned in the Bank ledgers that "loans distributed to Agricultural Cooperative Banks."

The authorities further discovered that several transactions violated the Bank rules as prescribed by Reserve Bank of India (RBI), MCDCC and NABARD. Also, the cash limit that has been prescribed to the MCDCC (Rs.12 lakh) has been exceeded many times and these funds could have been misappropriated by Poojar, the authorities observed.

Seven officers suspended

Seven officers of MCDCC Hunsur Branch have been suspended and three officers have been transferred in the light of the alleged scam. Also, reports have been sent to the Income Tax Department about the financial transactions of Ramappa Poojar, said MCDCC Bank MD Lingannaiah.

The officers have been suspended from Hunsur and Bilikere branches and the transferred officer include Ramappa Poojar. Others suspended include Bilikere Branch Manager Niranjan, Supervisor A.J. Naveen, Kumar, J.P. Krishna, Yathish Kumar, Naveen and Devaraju.

MLA demands criminal case

Hunsur MLA A.H. Vishwanath has demanded immediate filing of criminal cases against MCDCC Bank Hunsur Branch Ramappa Poojar and his accomplices for misappropriating public money. He also demanded that properties of Poojar and his associates must be sealed to recover the dues.

Bank MD made a scapegoat?

Meanwhile, it is learnt that some members of the Bank are conspiring against MCDCC Bank MD Lingannaiah and make him a scapegoat in this scam. It was Lingannaiah who unravelled the suspicious Bank dealings of Poojar by checking different personal accounts opened by Poojar and the scam came to light when the transactions at the MCDCC Bank and Poojar's personal accounts were matched.

At a meeting of the Bank held in Hunsur yesterday, the misappropriation issue was discussed and heated exchange ensued between certain members, Directors and office-bearers of the Bank. Some members blamed Lingannaiah for letting off the information to media and they demanded that Lingannaiah must be relieved from the Managing Director's post.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka speaks about the sexual choices in animals, how to identify the gender of a cat and about farting in animals.

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Why are frogs so sensitive to pollution?

Their skins are relatively thin and permeable to water, so frogs are exposed more directly to pollutants and environmental radiation. In addition, their eggs are laid in ponds and other water bodies, so they will absorb whatever chemical pollution may be present throughout their early developmental period.

Do tortoises make good pets?

No. Terrible pets. They stink. They eat faeces. They don't react to anything. They don't recognise you at all. They are prone to malnourishment and diseases in captivity. Though they are illegal to keep, there is a huge mafia racket in smuggling out 50,000 or more star tortoises from India, all of whom die within a year even though they can live for 80 years. In any case, is there any point in keeping an animal that lives 80 years. Are you planning to leave him to your grandchildren? Or do you want to kill him early with bad keeping? Either way, it is ridiculous to keep tortoises as pets.

Are people born with a special mating preference or do they develop it by watching other people, is the age old question. What about animals — How do they reach a conclusion on whom to mate with, since their choices are never random?

Dr. Eileen Hebets of Cornell University chose to demonstrate with female wolf spiders. She proved that being exposed to a certain type, when the spiders were very young, predisposed them to preferring only that type when they became adult. The results were published in The Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

Female wolf spider babies were put into boxes which had been given the fake mating smells of adult female spiders. Male wolf spiders have a courtship dance which involves waving their forelegs, which range in colour from light brown to dark black. Dr. Hebets painted the forelegs till they were either brown or black.

Then they were exposed to young females in plastic boxes. Male wolf spiders will not go into courtship displays in front of baby females, but they were tricked by the smell into believing there were adult females in the boxes. The male spiders danced, and the girls, who still had one moult to go watched. 11 to 21 days later when the females became adult they were reintroduced to the males. Females who had been exposed to glossy black forelegs mated with males with the same. They rejected males with brown legs and preferred to eat them.

Females who had not been exposed to a colour had no preferences. The experiment showed that spiders had both brain power and memories as well as sexual preferences.

Are animal sexual choices like humans in any way?

Humans are animals, so their way of making choices would be very similar. Researchers believe that Japanese Quails (which are grown in India to be eaten) are good models to study human behaviour. They are highly interested in sex, virtually all the time and do not have breeding cycles or, apparently, headaches. The only obvious difference is that they're more active at lunchtime than at dawn.

Studies of Japanese quail, by the psychologists Dr. David J. White and Dr. Bennett G. Galef of McMaster University of Canada, show the ways that female quail make mating choices.

Female Japanese quail not only prefer males that they have observed mating, they will also go after a male they have previously rejected after observing him mate with another female. Like a group of women who find a man "cute" because other women have said he is cute.

Female quails are so susceptible to getting the thumbs-up from other females that they even prefer males who look like other successful males. The researchers took a male that had already been rejected by females and glued white feathers, taken from an albino, to his dark crest. Then, as females watched, they mated him with a willing female. After that, the impressed females preferred not just him, but all males with white crests.

Male quails, put through the same peep-show experience, acted completely differently. Once they had seen a female copulating with another male, they tended to avoid her.

I have adopted a young cat from the road. What is the easiest way to find out whether it is a male or female?

When your cat uses its front paws to knock something off, does it use its left paw or its right? According to a study by Queen's University, Belfast, published in the journal Animal Behaviour, female cats are significantly more likely to be right-paw-dominant, while male cats typically favour their left paws.

Researchers studied which paw each cat led with, when walking down stairs and stepping over the raised edges of their litter boxes, or which paw was used to retrieve food from a closed area. 73 percent of cats showed a clear paw preference when reaching for food, 70 percent showed a preference when stepping down stairs, and 66 percent showed a preference when stepping over the lips of their litter boxes. Males strongly favoured their front left paws, and females strongly favoured their front right paws. (Neither male nor female cats appeared to have preferred sleeping sides.)

Do any other animals have this left/ right preference?

When animals favour one side of their body over another, it's known as laterality. Laterality also exists in dogs, amphibians, rodents, primates, marsupials and whales.

Does it have any deeper meaning?

This gender biased behaviour could be the result of different brain patterns in male and female and the presence of different hormones in male and female cats, but it could also be a strong indication of their personality. "Animals with no preference for one side or the other, or who incline strongly to left limb use, for example, seem more flighty and susceptible to illness than those who lean more heavily towards right-limb use," Scientists say that. "Left-limbed dogs, for example, are more pessimistic in their outlook than right-limbed dogs. From a pet owner's perspective, it might be useful to know if an animal is left- or right-limb dominant, as it may help them gauge how vulnerable that individual is to stressful situations."

Do worms have tongues?

Worms do not have tongues. Certain worms do have something in their mouth that they can poke out, like a tongue. It is called a "stylet" and it looks like a needle. Worms that eat plants, pierce the outside of the plant with their stylet. They then use the stylet like a straw, to suck out food from inside the plant. But the worm's stylet isn't actually a tongue.

One job of our tongue is to crush up food when we are eating. Inside our tongue is a set of muscles. These muscles let our tongue move food around in our mouth, pushing it up against the hard palate at the top of our mouth. Worms need to crush up their food. But instead of using a tongue, worms have muscles in their gut that do this. Another important job of our tongue is to taste food. Our tongue is covered in tiny bumps which contain taste buds. Worms have taste buds in special cells inside their mouth and other cells that are in their skin. As well as tasting, these cells also allow earthworms to smell. By sensing smells and tastes in the soil, worms can work out where they need to go to find food.

How many different kinds of worms are there?

The most common, for you, is the earthworm which you have probably seen in the soil in your garden. Then there are many thousands of different creatures that we call worms. Some worms are so tiny that you need a microscope to see them. Other worms are very big. One type of worm, called the bootlace worm, lives in the sea and can grow to be as long as an Olympic swimming pool.

We keep hearing about methane coming out of animal farts — specially cows and vegetarian animals grown for meat. Is this true? Do all animals fart?

A cow releases about 600 litres of methane daily while releasing air from its anus or "farting". A popular book called "Does it fart? Fascinating facts about animal toots", written by Rabaiotti, has listed all the ways that 80 different animals fart. For instance, the larvae of one species of beaded lacewing — a winged insect — farts on the heads of termites to incapacitate and kill them for food. Herrings gulp air at the water's surface and store it in special swim bladders, then release it from their anal ducts as a form of group communication as they swim together in a large group. The noise is too high-pitched for predatory fish to hear. Some animals have toned it down. The frequent sounds of loud farts from rhinos have almost disappeared as they reveal the rhinos hiding places, and populations have been decimated by poachers.

Bengaluru Blasters storm into finals

Mysuru, Sept.5 (SV)- Bengaluru Blasters stormed into the finals of the Karnataka Premier League (KPL) - 2018 after they defeated Mysuru Warriors by 20 runs in the semi-final clash at SDNR Wadiyar Stadium in city yesterday.

Mysuru Warriors won the toss and put Bengaluru Blasters into bat. The Blasters got off to a decent start. The batsmen got good starts but were unable to convert them into a big score. With the wicket turning, life for batsmen became difficult with the introduction of spinners. Mysuru's trump card was leg spinner Kushal Wadhwani (3 for 25) who was brought into this game in place of batsman Siddarth. He was well supported by skipper Suchith (2 for 12). The spinners strangled the batsmen and the batting order collapsed. The Blasters were at 92 for 6 within 16 overs. A late onslaught by Manoj Bhandage (34 off 15 balls) ensured that the Bengaluru Blasters reached a score of 138 for 9 in 20 overs. In reply, Mysuru Warriors got off to a positive start with Arjun Hoysala (52) taking command of the chase right from the word go. The spin trio of Arshdeep Singh Brar (1 for 5 in 2 overs), Anand Doddamani (2 for 16) and Shreyas Gopal (3 for 13 in 3 overs) caused a tumult in the Warriors camp. Birthday boy Shreyas Gopal, carried his prime form from the India B team where he was the highest wicket taker in the recently concluded Quadrangular series. Apart from Arjun Hoysala, the other batsmen struggled to make any useful contribution. His dismissal sparked off a collapse and none of the other top order batsmen even made it to double figures. The Warriors finished their score at 118 for 9 in 20 overs.

Earlier, with Rain Gods showing no mercy for almost an hour the toss got delayed. With the groundsmen and super soppers coming into the act, the ground was ready for the game at 7.55 pm. They had kept a one hour buffer time as there was no provision for a reserve day. Hence, no overs were lost.

The Bengaluru Blasters will now march into the finals undefeated throughout the season.

SCORE

Bengaluru Blasters: 138 for 9 in 20 overs (Manoj Bhandage 34, Kushal Wadhwani 3 for 25, J. Suchith 2 for 12) beat Mysuru Warriors: 118 for 9 in 20 overs (Arjun Hoysala 52, Shreyas Gopal 3 for 13, Anand Doddamani 2 for 16); Man of the Match: Shreyas Gopal.

Warrior women win exhibition match

Mysuru, Sept.5- The Karnataka Cricket Association (KSCA) offers a platform for the women to showcase their cricketing talent by organising exhibition matches for them in the KPL. There are four teams this year — Mysuru Warriors, Shivamogga Lions, Bijapur Bulls and Belagavi Panthers. The teams will be coached by former Indian players Mamatha Maben and Kalpana Venkatachar.

This matches will pave way for the creation of Women's KPL tournament in future. Keeping the future prospects in mind, two exhibition matches will be conducted this season. Indian cricketer Veda Krishnamurthy is also listed amongst the playing probables in these matches.

In yesterday's encounter, Mysuru Warriors defeated Shivamogga Lions by 4 wickets at SDNR Wadiyar Stadium. After winning the toss, Lions put up a score of 93 for 6 in 20 overs. In reply, Warriors got off to a poor start. They were staring at defeat as they were positioned at 31 for 5 at the end of 10th over. Akanksha Kohli and Aditi shared a crucial partnership of 55 runs from 33 balls and took the game away from Lions. In the other exhibition match, Bijapur Bulls took on Belagavi Panthers today.

SCORE

Shivamogga Lions: 93 for 6 in 20 overs (Pratyusha 24, Chandu 1 for 10) lost to Mysuru Warriors: 94 for 6 in 19.2 overs (Akanksha Kohli 34 n.o., Aditi 21 n.o.).

Cricket Talk

By V.N. Prasad

Sidelined at Southampton, Indians have a lot to introspect

Hearty congratulations to the Englishmen on clinching not only the test but also the series at Ageas Bowl. There was no 'Devil' in the pitch. The ball did more off-the-pitch than in the air. 'Puffing' on the surface appeared from 3rd day; accentuated by Ishanth Sharma who landed repeatedly in the danger area of the deck; inviting umpire's warning twice.

Opening stands of both the sides lacked the class. With just over a 1000 runs in the test that concluded on the 4th day, neither of the teams had reasons to complain of excessive fatigue under beautiful blue-skies and under bright sun. While both the teams having BOWLS of batting woes, it was young Sam Curran who undoubtedly scripted victory for England with his brilliant 78 and 46. At just 20 years of age, he looks a brilliant long term 'All — Round' prospect for England.

One wonders what was on the mind of Ashwin who fell short of fundamentals of 'Off-Spin' that a club-player would perceive; that is to exploit the rough created by Ishant. While Ali kept it simple lobbing high the 5.5 ounce 'Duke' cherry from over-the-wicket just away from off-stick, Ashwin was hapless nowhere near the rough; more with flatter deliveries than flighted ones. He was predictable all the time. Somehow, an off-spinner bowling round-the-wicket continuously does not augur well to exploit weakness of good batsmen. Ali was just brilliant and deserved the 'Player of the Match' award.

Combination of Ravi-Virat 'think-tank' in terms of the selection of teams for various venues are not effective. When Ashwin was not cent percent with a groin injury, Jeddu probably was a better option. As seen in long years, Jeddu bowls 'stump-to-stump' continuously and would have been more effective on a dry pitch at the Ageas. Pandya confuses the world with his indifferent performance with both bat and ball.

Our batting was all at sea — save good knocks by Pujara, Virat and Rahane. Pant's ZERO off 29 was unlike him in the 1st innings. His natural stroke play in the 2nd innings should have gone on with a bit of caution and responsibility as the finishing line was not too far away. Dhawan looks ever vulnerable with his dangling blade. With 1000 test scalps between Anderson and Broad, they are well versed to have him in the slip cordon at will. It would do well for the youngsters to concentrate more on watching videos than on cosmetics.

Virat's disposition at the post-match award ceremony was more of a ritualistic routine than genuine. While our pacers did the job commendably, it was naïve to contend that our team is competent in all the departments. It was more that the Englishmen were not a competent bunch in their own backyard than our being anywhere near good. When a team cannot put up 350 plus on the board consistently, the class is just not there.

Last but none the least, the world bids adieu to Alastair Cook on his grand career spanning 12 years. He hangs up his boots with a record of 12,254 test runs in 160 Tests @ 45. His stylish batting was studded with 32 hundreds and 56 fifties. We thank him for his wonderful performances and wish him all the best.

'Sahitya Krushika' Award conferred

Mysuru, Sept. 5 (US&RKB)- Akhila Bharatiya Sahitya Parishat (ABSP) had organised a function at Sarada Vilas Law College in Krishnamurthypuram here recently to felicitate writer Dr. Doddarangegowda on being conferred 'Sahitya Krushika' Award by the Parishat.

Speaking on the occasion, Doddarangegowda opined that a good poet should be well aware of the present happenings in the world. He asserted that a poem should not be fictitious but expose the personality of the poet.

Stating that a good study is needed to come out with a poem, the lyricist observed that experience gathered in rural areas and portrayed through a poem would have a long standing effect on the readers.

He also contended that extinction of joint families was detrimental to society.

ABSP Organising Secretary Narayana Shevire inaugurated the programme. Writer M.G. Sadanandaiah felicitated Doddarangegowda. ABSP President Sathanur Devaraj presided.

In the 'Kavi Goshti' held later, over 20 poets recited poems composed by them.

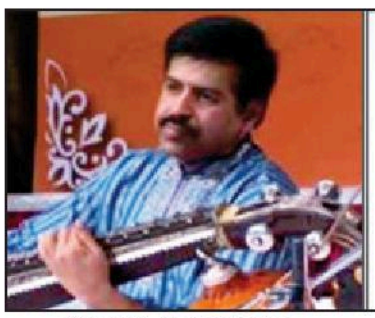
Music and Dance at Krishna Gana Sabha



Vid. R.K. Padmanabha

Vidu. Vaangmaye

Mysuru, Sept.5-Sri Krishna Seva Samithi Trust and Sri Krishna Gana Sabha have arranged a Veena concert by Vidwan R.K. Padmanabha on Sept. 6 at 6 pm and a dance programme by Vidushi Vaangmaye on Sept. 7 at 6.30 pm at Alwar Kalabhavan in Gokulam on the occasion of Sri Krishna Janmashtami.

The accompanying artistes for the concert are Vidwan P.S. Sridhar on mridanga and Vidwan Sriram Bhat on kanjeera.

Mysuru-based Veena Maestro Vidwan R.K. Padmanabha, who once performed for the great vocalist Vidushi Dr. Gangubai Hangal, was trained in singing and veena playing by his father for almost two decades. The Mysore style of Veena-playing which Padmanabha follows was patronised by the Wadiyar Kings. The musical instrument and the rendition is a bit different from the Thanjavur, Andhra or Kerala styles. His father, R.S. Keshavamurthy, a renowned Veena exponent, who was endowed with the title of Asthana Vidwan at the Kingdom of Mysore, developed this instrument in 1924. The 250-year-old precious Kanaka Rajatha Saraswathi Akanda Veena was passed on to him by his brothers in 1983 after his father's death. The historical Veena belonged to Veena Subbanna, the legendary musician and composer (1861-1939).

Vaangmaye has been undergoing training in Bharatanatyam since the age of 6 years. At present she is getting training from Dr. Soundarya Srivatsa. She is pursuing Dance to take Vidwat exam. She has given dance programmes in Bengaluru and Mysuru.

UoM Pourakarmikas continue night-long strike

Mysuru, Sept.5 (PM&US)- About 100 women Pourakarmikas of University of Mysore (UoM) under the aegis of Karnataka State Combined Universities Pourakarmikas Association who began their night-long indefinite strike near the Kuvempu Statue at the main entrance of the University on Bogadi Road yesterday morning opposing the anti-labour policy of the University, continued their strike this morning too.

The protestors had cooked food at the protest spot and slept there last night before resuming their protest today morning.

Alleging that they were working since14 years on a daily wage basis through an outsourced agency, they complained that they were deprived of basic social security benefits like PF and ESI.

They further alleged that the University had initiated a tender process to invite a new contractor and feared that the move could throw them out of job.

The protestors sought wages on par with Grade-D employers.

Association State Committee President Chandshekar Meti, Secretary Usha Rani and others took part in the protest.

Kaveri Grameena Bank robbery case

Police intensify investigation

Mysuru, Sept.5 (KS)- The H.D. Kote Police, who are investigating the robbery case of Kaveri Grammena Bank, Kyathanahalli Branch, located at Alanahalli Gate in H.D. Kote taluk, have intensified their probe.

The miscreants, after removing the iron roads of the window, had entered the Bank wearing masks and had decamped with about 12 kg gold ornaments and Rs.6 lakh cash kept in the Bank's vault. Based on the CCTV footages, it is confirmed that the robbery had taken place on Saturday night.

In this backdrop, the Police are investigating in all angles and have interrogated the Bank's staff till late night on Sept.3. As the Police have got no clues, they are collecting information from the villagers about strangers who had come to the village recently.

Progressive Groups condemn arrest of Human Rights Activists

Mysuru, Sept.5 (US&PM)- Progressive Groups Comprising members of PUCL, CPI (M) and DSS staged a protest in front of Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple here yesterday coming down heavily on the Union Government for arresting Human Rights activists and members of leftist groups.

Speaking on the occasion Social activist P. Mallesh opined that ever since the BJP came to power at the Centre, the freedom of the common man was being curtailed.

He contended that BJP along with RSS were co-ordinating in the names of religion and caste which was detrimental to society and democracy. Hence he asked the progressive groups to put down such unwelcome and unethical development.

Another activist Dr. V. Lakshminarayan said that the Union Government was totally against pro-people activists.

Writer H. Doreswamy contended that the Union Government was debating more on religion-related matters than the deteriorating economic condition of the country.

Writer Bannur Raju, Panditharadya of PUCL, Basavaraj of CPI (M), DSS leaders Shambulingswamy, Javarappa, Puttaswamy, Shivanna, Nele Hinnale's Gopal and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Symposium

Pronunciation: sim-POH-zee-um

Meaning: A convivial party with music and conversation; a social gathering at which there is free interchange of ideas or discussion.

Origin: It was drinking more than thinking that drew people to the original symposia and that gave us the word symposium. The ancient Greeks would often follow a banquet with a drinking party they called a symposion. That name came from sympinein, a verb that combines pinein, meaning "to drink," with the prefix syn-, meaning "together." Originally, English speakers only used symposium to refer to such an ancient Greek party, but in the 18th century British gentlemen's clubs started using the word for gatherings in which intellectual conversation was fueled by drinking. By the end of the 18th century, symposium had gained the more sober sense we know today, describing meetings in which the focus is more on the exchange of ideas and less on imbibing.

Example: The specialists and scholars present at the symposium come from all corners of the country.

THE ODD WORD

Deblaterate

To babble.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A shot in the arm

Meaning: A stimulus.

Origin: This expression derives from the invigorating effect of injecting drugs. A shot is of course US slang for an injection, either of a narcotic or medicinal drug. That term has been in use since around the beginning of the 20th century; for example, this piece from the San Francisco Chronicle Supplement, October 1904:"I varied hardly a minute each day in the time of taking my injection. My first shot was when I awoke in the morning." 'A shot in the arm' came soon afterwards and the first mention of a figurative use of it in print that I can find is from the Maine newspaper The Lewiston Evening Journal, January 1916:The vets can give politics a shot in the arm and the political leaders realise it.

Example: Once the nurse gives you a shot in the arm, you'll feel better, I promise.
